Andrew Sharpe plays Jack of Jack and the Beanstalk and Joanne Stanley is his mother in E.C. Drury High School's production of Into the Woods. The play opens Wednesday and continues December 3, 4, and 5.

Fairy tale musical at Drury

E.C. Drury High School presents Into the Woods, a musical extravaganza of fairy tales Dec. 2-5.

In the play, fairy tale characters live out their stories at the same time in the same woods, entangling one another's narratives.

The production, which includes Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderella, Rapunzel, Sleeping Beauty, and Snow White, portrays issues facing society today.

Suitable for all age groups, the Sondheim and Lapine musical starts at 7:30 p.m.

Admission costs $8 for adults and $7 for seniors and students. Tickets may be purchased at the school or call 878-0575 for reservations.

Monster bingo benefits United Way

There will be a chance to win $3,500 at a monster bingo Monday night to benefit the United Way of Milton.

The special event at Bingo Country November 30 will help the local United Way meet its 1992 campaign goal.

A prize-board worth $10,000 will feature a jackpot game and the chance to win $3,500. Bingo starts at 7 p.m. and advance discount tickets are available at the hall.

The advance price is $25 for 12 cards to view, including eight regular game cards, first and second specials and jackpot cards.

The price goes up to $30 at the door game night. All proceeds go to the United Way of Milton.

Bingo Country is located on Highway 25 just north of Highway 401.

Food drive

Bingo Country is collecting non-perishable food items to help the needy this Christmas.

Donations will be used for Christmas food baskets which will be distributed to families in the Milton area over the holiday season.

Food items can be left at the Highway 25 bingo hall daily from 4:30 p.m. to midnight, and Sunday from 1 p.m. to midnight.
