Kelly Stewart tops in Royal showmanship

The cream has risen to the top as Kelly Stewart of Hornby claimed the premier junior showmanship title at The Royal Winter Fair Nov. 20. The 21-year-old was selected out of a field of 72 competitors for her ability to show Holstein calf Provale Inspir Barbie, owned by Jack Proud of Oakville. It's a talent she's been developing since she was six-years-old. Kelly has earned many awards through the years as a member of Halton 4-H.

She led the Halton contingent, followed by Connie Bennett who earned second place in the show ring and Tyler Brander who took eighth place.

The President's Cup Junior Showmanship Competition sponsored by Holstein Canada operates with three qualifying heats and a final which features about 30 of the best showmen.

For her win Kelly received a stained glass award. The top 10 contestants each received an engraved President's Cup medallion and a cash award.

Brander named farmer of the year

Congratulations to Harry Brander of Norval who has been selected the 1992 Halton Outstanding Farmer.

The award was presented Friday evening at the annual dinner and dance party in Georgetown.

At the banquet he received plaques from various farm organizations as well as many gifts.

Worship at Omagh Presbyterian Church was conducted by Rev. Shawn Croll Sunday.

The "Candles of Hope" for Advent Sunday was read by Katie Patterson and Kelly Taylor.

The congregation is being asked to bring unwrapped gifts of non-perishable food Sunday. Donations will be delivered to the Salvation Army for Christmas cheer.
