What's that spell?

Snow, snow and more snow fell yesterday and through the night, turning the area into a winter wonderland and a challenge to drivers. Laura Cunning performs a task familiar to motorists as she clears snow from the windshield of her car.

Incredible Boris to cast spell at Dickens

Russian-born mentalist Boris Cherniak will put his power of suggestion to work at The Dickens restaurant Saturday.

Hypnotist the Incredible Boris makes audience members dance like Michael Jackson, strut Elvis style, or pretend they're Madonna or Dr. Ruth on the Arsenio Hall Show.

The fast-paced show is choreographed to music. Audience members are the stars with volunteers placed under Boris' spell.

"I put suggestion in their minds with the sound of my voice and visual stimuli," explains Mr. Cherniak, who is now Canadian. "I've hypnotized people who didn't even speak English."

His show is said to be entertaining as well as therapeutic. "At the end of the show, I impart a suggestion to people to better themselves (quit smoking, lose weight)," he says. "It's an extra little benefit."

Tickets cost $5.

Be safe stay well away from fallen wires

Ice storms, high winds, falling tree limbs can bring hydro lines down. Don't go near a fallen wire ... even a seemingly dead line can be dangerous. Warn others to keep clear and call Milton Hydro to report the fallen wire.

If the line falls across your vehicle, stay inside until the line is removed by a hydro crew. If you must leave because of fire, jump clear without touching the car and the ground at the same time. If there's a live power line touching your car, putting even one foot on the ground can be a fatal move to make.
