

Bullies and other behaviour topic of Nassagaweya meeting

Children's behaviour and working together is the theme of the spring general meeting of the Nassagaweya Community School Association on Wednesday, May 5, 7:30 p.m. at Brookville School

"Parents' concerns on behaviour became obvious at our fall general meeting explained NCSA chairman Jim Harding. "The issue was simply too involved to handle at that meeting, so we decided to devote an entire evening to the subject."

Behaviour specialist will be among guest speakers who will start the evening with presentations. There will be time for questions and discussions.

Speakers include child and youth counsellors Sue Aleska and Kevin Dorscht, social worker Harvey Lemmon and Brian Pashley an experienced psychologist. The background of the various panel members make it possible to discuss behaviour from Kindergarten age to high school.

As counsellors with the Halton Board of Education, Ms Aleska deals with effective parenting and language while Mr. Dorscht works directly with students at Brookville each Monday. They'll discuss intervention strategies — what works and what doesn't.

Currently researching the issue of bullying for the Halton Board, Mr. Lemmon and Mr. Pashley will deal with that topic. School principal Chris Jefferson will address behaviour codes and school initiatives at Brookville.

Parents and interested members of the community are invited to attend the meeting.
