

Bird man of Mountsberg

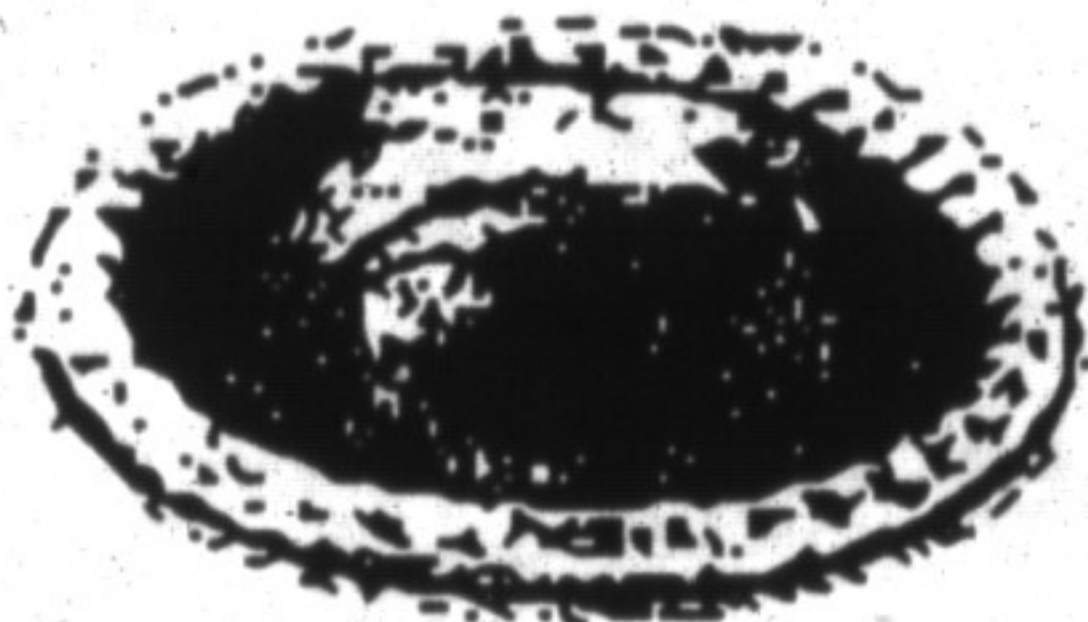

Martin Wernaart proudly shows off the award he received from Halton Region Conservation Authority chair Brian Penman for his work in bird banding. Mr. Wernaart, who founded the project in 1976, has banded 95,000 of the 100,000 birds so tagged at Mountsberg himself.

Once in a while we are lucky enough to find someone who wants to make a difference. Someone who has the talents and the ability to do something that will benefit others. Someone with the energy and the drive to accomplish a production such as "The Green Ginger 1st Annual Fashion Show for Parkinson's' Research". On behalf of all of us who cope with Parkinson's' I want to thank Lesley for her incredible fundraising efforts towards the research of this disease.

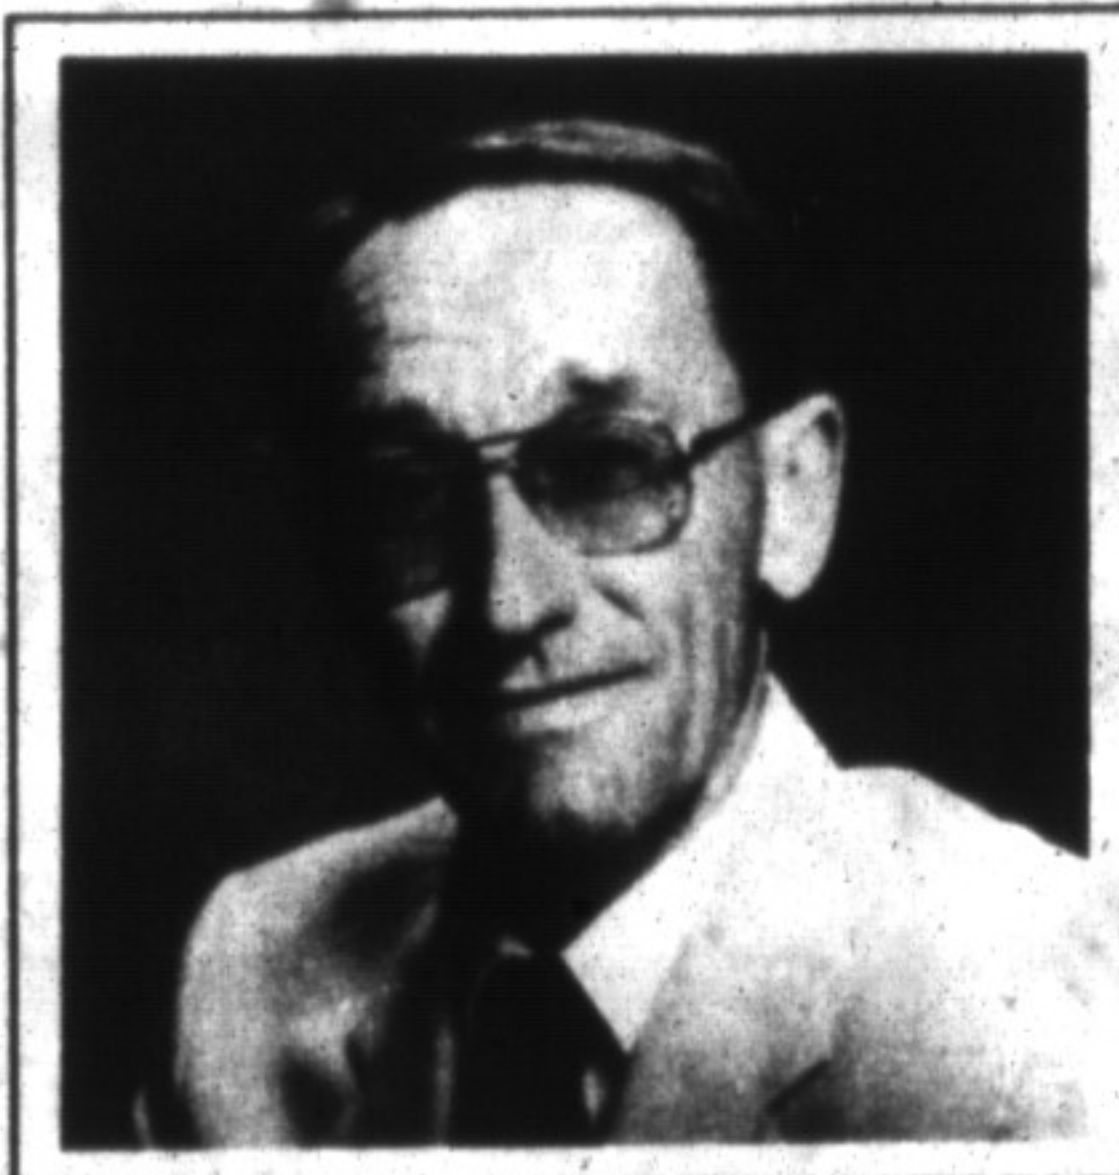

I would also like Lesley to know that in the future, when a cure has been found, it will be in part due to her amazing efforts, as well as the support of all who attended Sunday's show, in making it the outstanding success it was. Thanks are also due, of course, to all others who freely contributed their time, and expertise, as well as Halton Hills Place for donating their banquet hall, without which the show could not have taken place.

Special people like Lesley Goertzen are few and far between. They often do not receive the recognition or the thanks they truly deserve. Lesley has always made time for me, she has always gone that extra step to help, she has always been there with a comforting shoulder and a reassuring hug. The efforts Lesley put into the fashion show were phenomenal. I hope that one day, Lesley will know how much I appreciate her, her tireless determination in the production of this show, and everything she has done for me.

I hope Milton knows how fortunate it is to have a citizen as dedicated, talented and caring as Lesley Goertzen.

Thank you, Lesley!
