

Senior leaders recognized

Community leaders who've made special efforts for seniors were recently recognized at a June 23 dinner at St. Paul's United Church.

Almost 120 diners were entertained by the St. Paul's choir male singers and senior line dancers at the event, which raised over $1,700 towards furnishing the new Childs-Drive Milton Seniors' Activity Centre, which opens next Tuesday (July 5).

Among those recognized were Ed Parsons and the late Tom Bradley, for their work establishing ongoing seniors' groups.

Former Citizen of the Year Len McNeil was honoured for his roles in various organizations, including Meals on Wheels.

George Wachmann was cited for planning a seniors' residential community scheduled to open near Lowville in 1996.

The Royal Canadian Legion's Stewart Wolf was thanked for his service with the seniors' group, and for the Legion's strong support of the new seniors' centre's fundraising.

Visitors included Flo Carswell, and Les and Mabel Mellish, of Georgetown, leaders of a drive to establish a seniors' centre there.

Duignan announces Provincial funding for three new traffic lights

Halton North MPP Noel Duignan recently announced the area will receive $25,000 in supplementary provincial funding for three new traffic signals.

Supplementary funding is earmarked for specific or one-time projects and equipment purchases.

Committed to creating work, the government allots supplementary funds to work identified by the local municipality as significant projects that can get underway immediately, creating jobs.

The funding is part of the province's $704.5 million commitment to road maintenance and improvement in Ontario's 863 municipalities.

The provincial government is also putting $722 million, over two years, into the Canada-Ontario Infrastructure Works Program. Together, the programs are expected to create 25,000 jobs.
