

Hitching a ride

Hundreds of people took advantage of late summer sunshine and warm breezes to take in the Ontario Agricultural Museum's Harvest Home Festival Sunday. Here, some visitors soak in the charm and the sunshine after hitching a ride on a wagon. The horse-drawn wagons offered visitors a welcome respite as well as tours of the museum grounds.

Conflict management seminar

Angela Jackson, of Celebrating Anger, will help celebrate National Women's Centre Day with a talk at Oakville-Trafalgar High School September 28.

The graduate of both York and Toronto universities, who has worked with organizations, corporations and associations across North America, will share creative solutions for managing conflict at home, at work and in relationships.

The seminar launches several new programs offered at the Women's Centre focusing on self-esteem, women's health, healthy relationships, the entrepreneurial woman and job search skills. Program registration is underway.

Tickets for the 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. seminar are $10, $5 for students, and available at the Women's Centre, Hopedale mall, 1515 Rebecca Street, Suite 230, Oakville. For information call 847-5520.
