Do you want to work as part of a team? Is a fast paced environment a challenge you enjoy? If a position with a small, secure company is what you are looking for, look no further. Info 2000 has the following immediate openings:

Technical Support Person

This individual would be responsible for client support of computer applications. If you are a Computer Science graduate with previous Relational Database System experience you may be the individual we are looking for. Expertise with Informix while not required would be a definite asset.

PowerBuilder Developer

We are looking for a career oriented, self-motivated professional to join our company. If you are a University graduate in Computer Science or Mathematics with at least three years work experience programming in a Client/Server environment you may be the candidate we are looking for. PowerBuilder Experience is preferred, Visual Basic may be acceptable.

Technical Writer

If you have at least two years experience writing documentation and manuals for computer applications, you may be the person we need. Excellent written skills along with Word Processing and Desktop Publishing skills are the combination we are looking for.

Please forward your resume in confidence to Susan Grant by October 20th, 1994:
