

Betty likes to give back to the town

On and off the job, Betty Ingle gives it her all, say a line-up of her friends and colleagues.

The real estate agent's efforts at work and at her leisure haven't gone unnoticed — evident by her several nominations for Milton Chamber of Commerce community awards.

The 67-year-old north Oakville woman has been nominated for both 1995 Citizen of the Year and 1995 Business Person of the Year.

"I was totally blown away," she said describing her reaction to the news. "I didn't know what I'd done to deserve it."

Her nominators' explanation says it all. "Her dedication to charity, causes and kind, caring attitude toward all her friends, colleagues and acquaintances make her a very special person," a group of nominators wrote to the chamber.

The causes she currently contributes to are the Terry Fox Run, United Way, Children's Miracle Network, Santa Claus Parade, Canadian Cancer Society and Milton District Hospital Foundation.

"For many years, Betty has worked tirelessly for the benefit of others," nominators said. "She always has a smile and a joke to tell when you are down."

On the job, she's reportedly just as hard-working. "Betty has always put a 100 per cent effort into helping her clients 24 hours a day," another nominator said.

Ms Ingle's reason for volunteering is simple.

"I like to give back to the community what we get out of it," she said.

Real estate has been a satisfying job for Ms Ingle, an agent with Remax Miltowne Realty Corporation. She began her career 23 years ago, after moving to Canada from England.

"I enjoy finding the right house for the right buyer," Ms Ingle said. "I like to see the smile on their face when they get their dream home."

Ms Ingle joins Scott Early, operator of J. Scott Early Funeral Home, and Campbellville resident Dicky Deumer among the nominees for 1995 Citizen of the Year. She has also been nominated alongside Carol McDonald of McMarketing Enterprises and Bob Newman of Robert Newman Shoes for Business Person of the Year.

The award recipients will be announced at a gala evening at Halton Hills Place Saturday, Apr. 13.
