Ries Boers of Bill's Auto Body and McMarketing Enterprise's Carol McDonald took home winners' plaques from Saturday evening's Milton Chamber of Commerce Community Awards Gala at Halton Hills Place. Bill's Auto Body won Business of the Year while Ms McDonald was named Business Person of the Year.

Community praises solid citizens

Accepting the award was president Helen Comber. The society's main objective is promoting interest in local history. They have published three books, sponsored Heritage Awards, researched historical homes and organized other initiatives — all without any government funding.

Ms Comber praised the hard work of several of her society counterparts including Jim Dills, Alex Cooke and Ken Lamb.

The Historical Society was chosen among a group of nominees which included the Link Foundation — founded by Ryan Leworthy — and the business population and citizens of the town of Milton.

The Civic Improvement of the Year award was presented to members of the Milton Horticultural Society, for the creation of the ornate and attractive Town Hall gardens.

Planting and maintenance both inside and outside the walls of the old jail and exercise yard have made the gardens a popular photographic destination for both weddings and walking tours.

Also nominated for the award were Gordon Food Service and Millside Restaurant. Accepting the award on behalf of the Horticultural Society were Krys Good, Jennifer Mirosofin and Marion Detlor.
