

Correction

In a story on page 3 of the Friday, June 7 issue of The Canadian Champion, it was erroneously stated that Milton artist Marie Clements has been incapacitated by a stroke to the extent she will be unable to attend a show of her paintings.

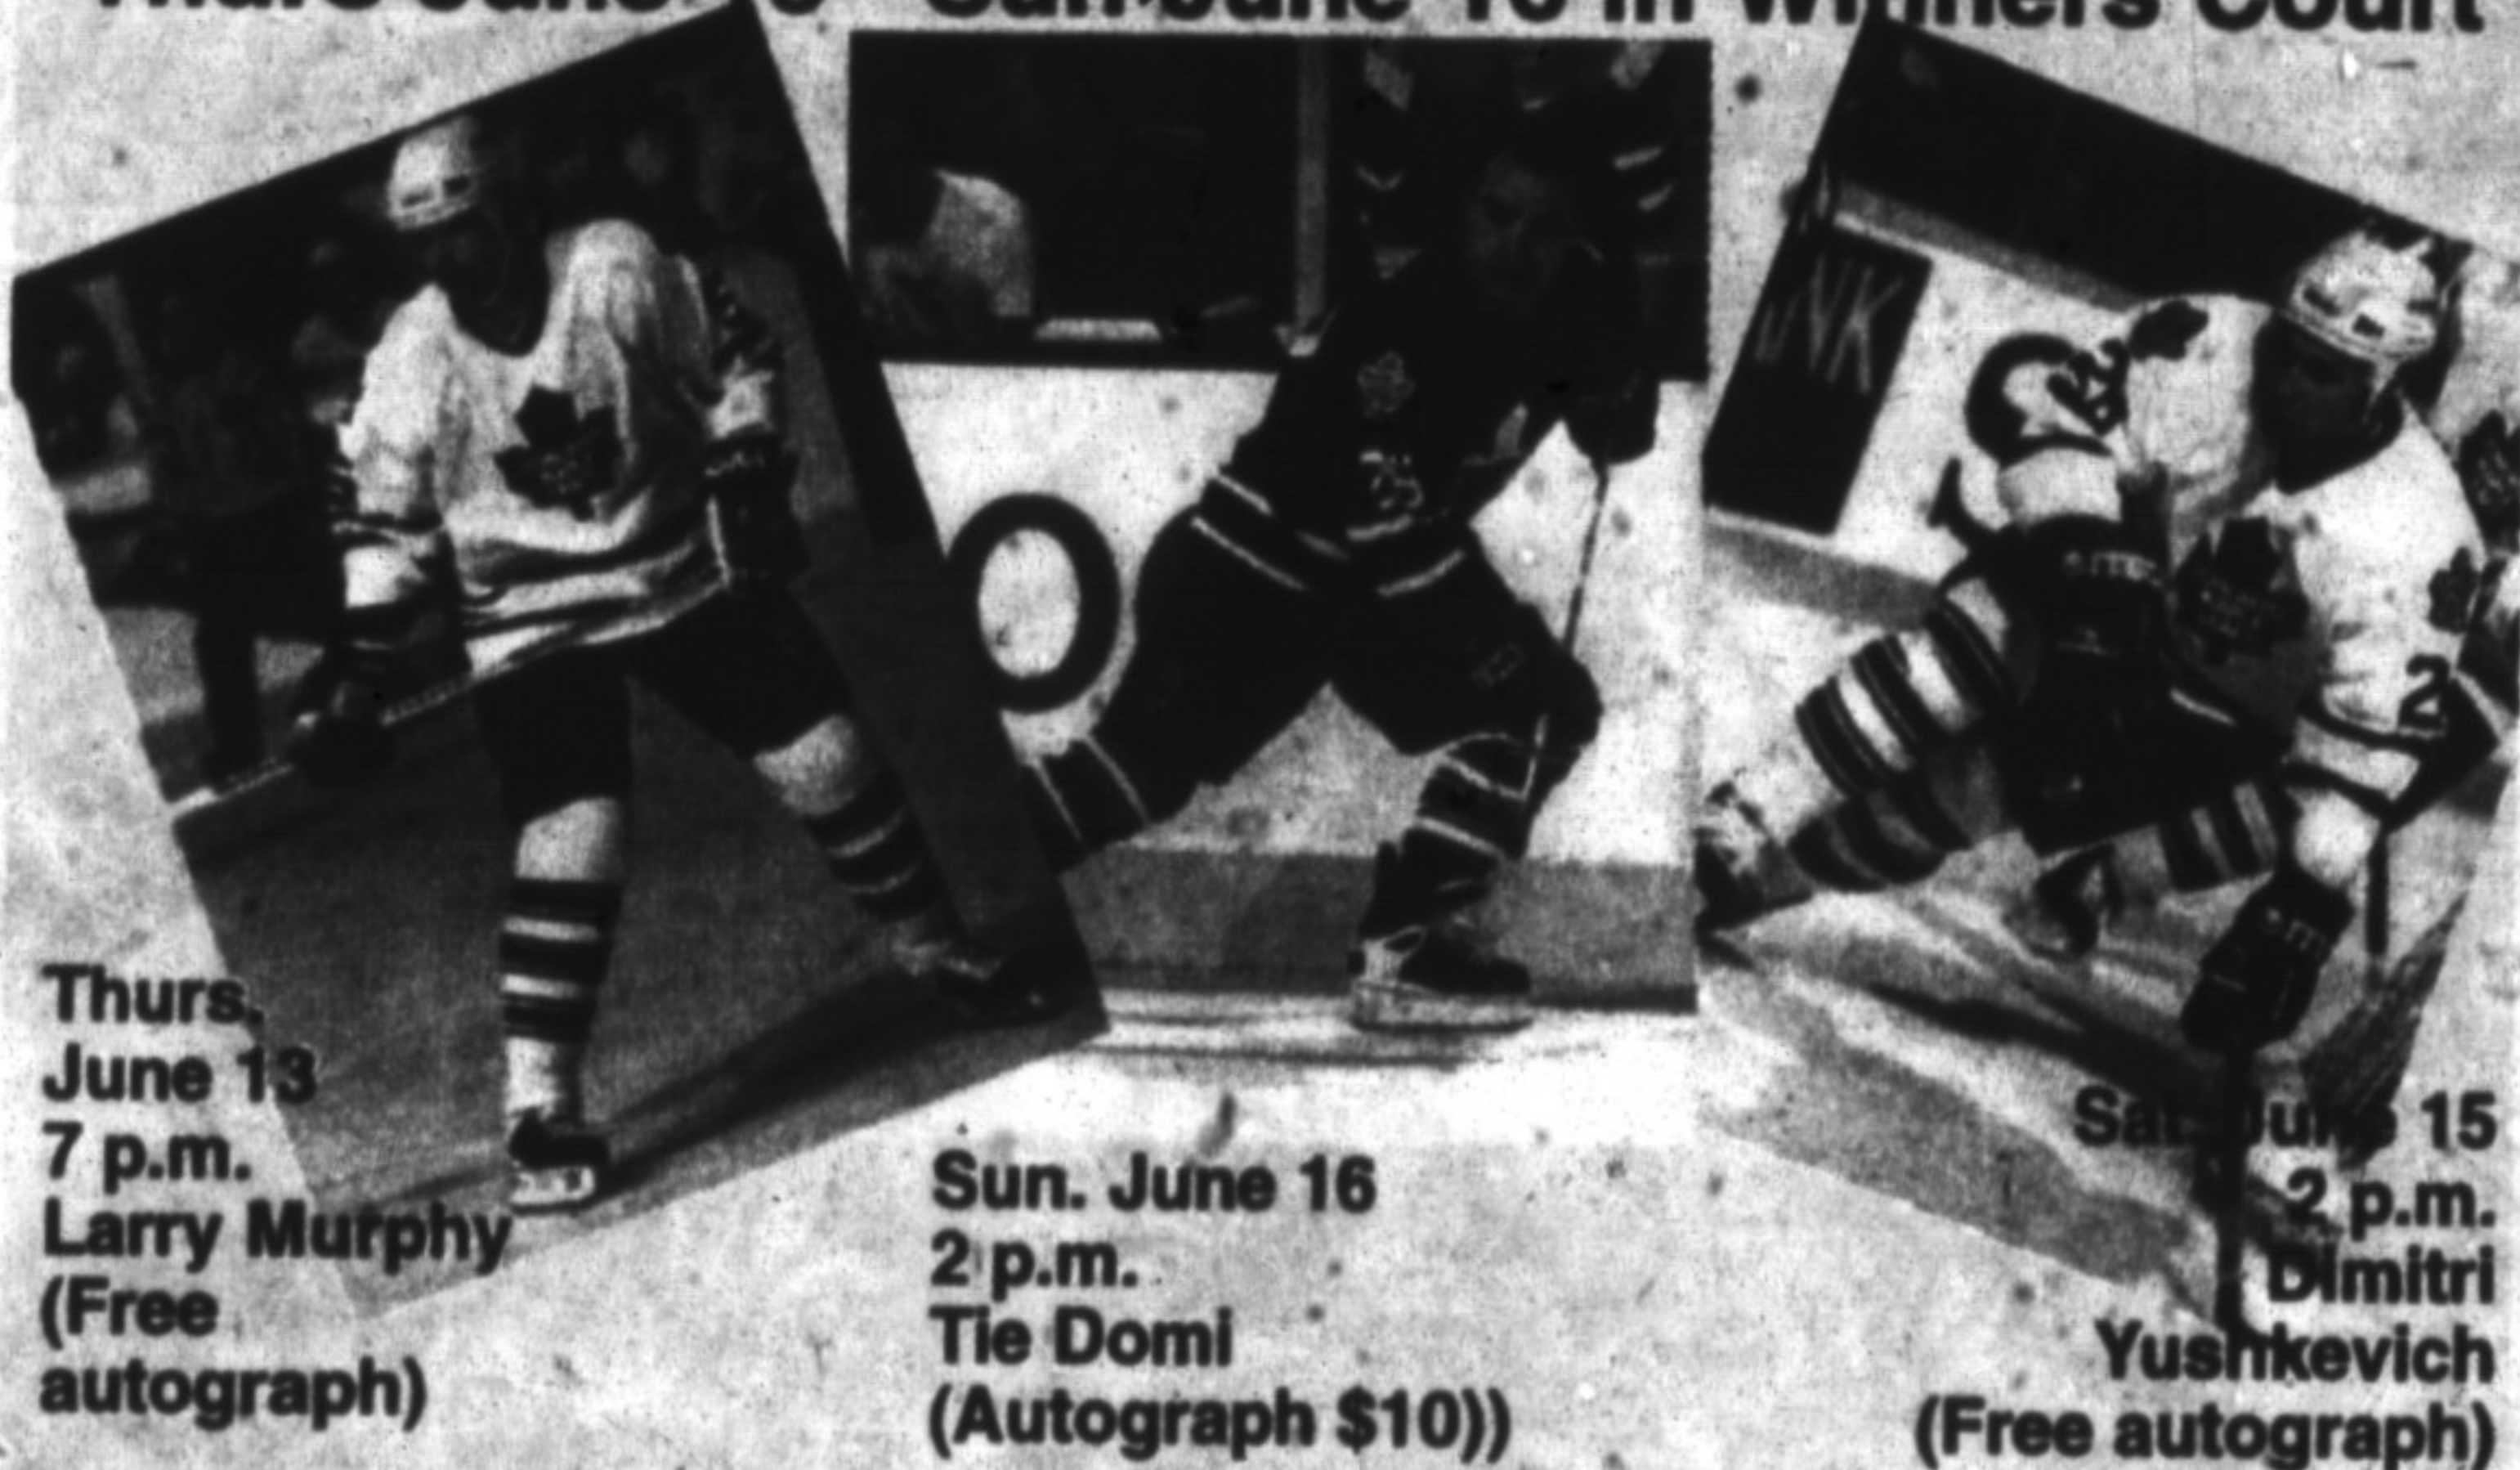

In fact, the artist fully intends to appear at the show tomorrow (Thursday) night at Dorland-Haight Galleries on Main Street, says gallery owner Peter Haight. The exhibition, a retrospective of the artist's work, begins at 7:30 p.m. and her paintings will be for sale. The stroke rendered Ms Clements unable to walk or paint, but she remains in good spirits, he said.
