Police car write-off in crash

A $35,000 police cruiser was destroyed when an officer on patrol lost control on wet roads Sunday, Halton Regional Police said.

The constable was driving the cruiser northbound on Trafalgar Road, just north of Lower Base Line, at 4:21 a.m. when the single-vehicle crash occurred.

The cruiser was travelling at the posted speed limit when it went out of control on slippery roads and drove onto the gravel shoulder, said Staff Sgt. Jackie

Gordon.

The 1995 Crown Victoria, specially equipped for police use, then crashed into a cement guide post at a Trafalgar Road residence, damaging a gate.

The driver, who has eight years police experience, was taken to Milton District Hospital where he was treated for minor injuries and released.

The accident is under investigation by the Halton police public safety unit.
