Hurricanes blow away opposition

Rep Hockey

The major atom AAA Hurricanes continued to wreak havoc with league opponents last week, chalking up three more victories.

Halton's toughest challenge came against Stoney Creek, who staked themselves to an early 3-1 lead. The Hurricanes' comeback efforts were anchored by Kyle Quincey, who turned the hat-trick.

Adam Kemp also contributed to the rally with a single marker while Milton's Adam Rutz scored their first goal and added an assist later on. Drawing two helpers each were Kemp, Brett Robinson and Danny Syvret, with Tim Jaspersen counting one. Earning the win between the pipes - with clutch goaltending down the stretch - was Alex McLeod.

The 'Canes wouldn't need a comeback campaign in their next outing - or for that matter much of a defensive effort - as they bombed the Chinguacousy Blues 9-1. Despite taking their third straight beating from Halton this season, the Blues managed to keep the score more respectable than previous 13-0 and 19-0 shellackings.

Robinson and Quincey led the offensive showcase with five and four-point nights respectively while Syvret and Kemp had three each. Rutz, Derek Greaves and Nat Wicken were others with multi-point nights. Guarding the cage in a relatively idle performance was McLeod.

A penalty-filled, physically demanding game against Guelph cut into Halton's scoring game, although they managed to come away with a solid 4-1 triumph - thanks in large part to a two-goal, one-assist effort by Marcus Goencz. Tim Johnston backstopped the pack in net with a sound goaltending performance.

Kemp and Robinson scored once and added an assist while Syvret drew two assists and Greaves and Quincey had single helpers.

Truckers take it out on Georgetown

After suffering their second loss this season, the Sandstone Transport AA midget Winterhawks took their frustrations out on the Georgetown Raiders with an 11-0 shellacking at Memorial Arena.

Milton kept the Raiders in the game for the opening period but then turned up the heat and allowed only two shots for the remainder of the night while firing 37 more at Georgetown's net.

They scored four second-period goals and added eight in the final frame. Blair McTrach earned Milton's latest shutout with a relatively idle evening, facing only eight shots.

Luc Redditt led the scoring parade with a hat-trick and two assists while Brent Van Loosen scored two and record a pair of helpers. McDuffe also tallied twice. Steve Turner contributed with a single marker and three assists, with Matt Peers setting up two and firing one in himself.

Jeff Mitchell and Ben Wilson posted one goal, one assist nights while Jeff Seeds counted three helpers and Jeff Chaisson and Cory Leigh had two each.

Feast and famine for minor atoms

The Action Utility Trailers minor atom A Winterhawks hit both ends of the emotional spectrum last week - with their best and worst efforts of the season.

Ironically, their best effort only amounted to a 2-1 loss to league-leading Fergus - who have tasted defeat only once this year. Fergus was set back on their heels however, by an aggressive Milton crew backstopped by Troy Squance.

Nole Coutrouzas gave the 'Hawks an initial lead with an early powerplay marker, when some tenacious fore checking by Philip Foley caused a turnover in the Fergus end. Also assisting on the play was Chris Hill. Jake Madansky and Greg Pepper turned in some inspired efforts for Milton.

A week's layoff took its toll on the Action pack in their earlier game, when they managed just a 2-2 draw with visiting Orangeville. Coutrouzas and Kyle Scott scored unassisted goals to put their team ahead early.
