Currie, Walt Elliot faced off in Milton

By JANE MULLER
Staff Writer

Oriena Currie almost walked away with the Liberal candidacy without opposition until Thursday when Walter Elliot of Oakville announced his intentions.

The original nominee first declared her candidacy bid last December and confirmed it shortly after Prime Minister John Turner's election call.

The Campbellville businesswoman referred to the contest between herself and Mr. Elliot as a battle between north and south.

The riding the pair are seeking to represent takes in Acton, Milton and Oakville.

The fate of the nomination hopefuls was decided last evening (Tuesday) at a Halton Liberal Riding Association nomination meeting. The results of that meeting were not available at press time.

Today the Liberal candidate could either be an Oakville high school teacher who has run for political office and has served in various capacities in the Liberal Party, or Mrs. Currie who is relying on her business experience to carry her into the political arena for the first time.

The nomination meeting provided only a sample of the battle for popularity the Liberal candidate will wage against incumbent MP Otto Jelinek.

He has represented the riding since 1979 and the High Park riding in Toronto beginning in 1972.

Federal Progressive Conservative MP Otto Jelinek officially got his Milton campaign underway Monday evening with the opening of his committee room at 14 Martin St. Reviewing a map of Milton with Mr. Jelinek (right) are Ken Hassard (centre) Milton campaign manager and Milton Mayor Gord Krantz. Mr. Jelinek said he will be conducting "an old-fashioned style campaign" that is people oriented. He said he is looking forward to meeting as many of his constituents as possible in the coming weeks as well as attending public meetings and coffee parties.
