

Gregg hosts night of history

A special evening presentation is being planned to mark Heritage Day across Halton Region, Mon. Feb. 13.

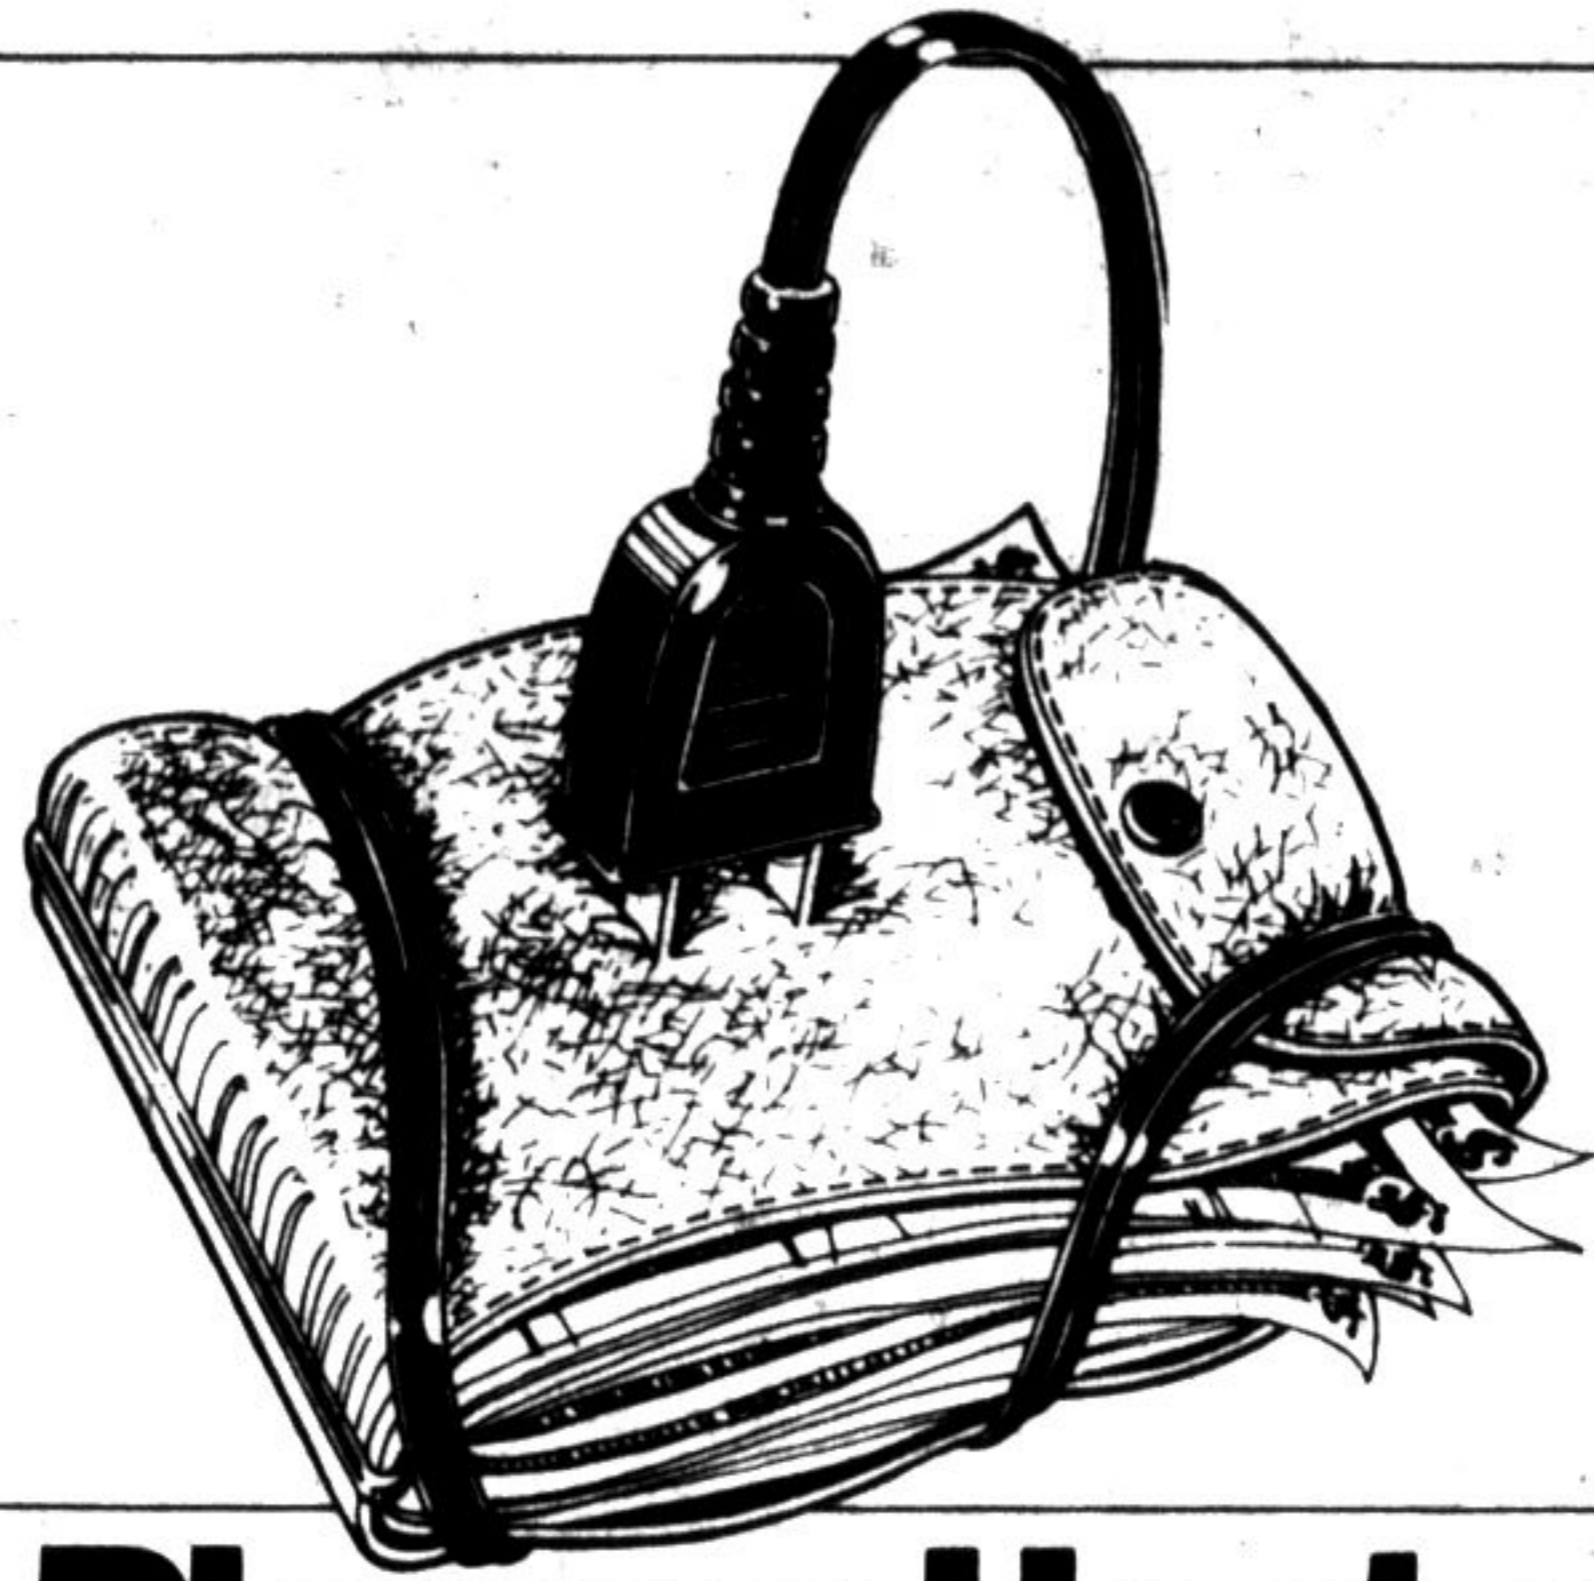

Dr. William Gregg, considered one of Ontario's leading amateur historians will discuss "Why a Bicentennial for Ontario in 1984?"

The site is the Halton Region Museum at Kelson Conservation area and the admission price is $1. The start time for Dr. Gregg is 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Gregg has spent most of his life in Halton. He was raised on a north Oakville farm but has been farming in Nassagaweya since 1966.

With an active interest in all forms of Canadian history, Dr. Gregg is known for his large, private collection of Canadian Second World War vehicles and artifacts.
