

Heroin use is approved

Regional council has forwarded its stand on the use of heroin for sever pain in the terminally ill to the Ontario Boards of Health.

Council had earlier this year supported the concept of letting heroin be used for the terminally ill, particularly cancer patients.

The decision to send the official stand to the boards of health almost caused some pain for Halton Chief Administrative Officer Dennis Perlin.

The recommendation to sent it was made June 6 at a 12.30 p.m. meeting of the regional health and social services committee. The committee noted the convention was ending on the same day the recommendation was being passed to send heroin support from Halton.

Mr. Perlin noted that he had already advised the convention of Halton's supportive stand.

At that point he was asked what he would have done if the committee had changed its mind and not supported the recommendation, therefore repudiating the Halton stand.

"I guess," he said, "I would have had to send another letter stating that was no longer our position."

As it turned out, regional council approved the recommendation about two hours later so Halton's stand on heroin is confirmed.
