Cancer society seeks 'extreme' volunteers

Calling all adventure-seeking race enthusiasts.

The Canadian Cancer Society Halton Unit is looking for volunteers to form a new leadership committee for a five-kilometre extreme obstacle and endurance event to be held this year.

Volunteers must love and have experienced the thrill of an athletic obstacle challenge, as this new event is all about survival of the fittest — all in the name of a good cause.

Halton unit organizers say the ideal candidates should be highly organized, motivated and creative individuals that have a passion for the community and have knowledge of obstacle adventure styled events.

For more information about the challenge, contact Kelly McLaughlin at either (905) 845-5231, ext. 3133 or kmclaughlin@ontario.cancer.ca.
