Out-of-this-world experience

About a dozen air cadets, many with the 820 Chris Hadfield Squadron, asked questions to astronaut Chris Hadfield, commander of the International Space Station, through a telebridge amateur radio link Saturday at Country Heritage Park. After the brief radio link, cadets who got to talk to the first Canadian to command the space station signed a banner that's touring the country and will be presented to Hadfield on his return. Above, 820 squadron Cpl. Delaney Hewitt adds her name to the banner. Graham Paine / Canadian Champion (Follow on Twitter @halton_photog)

'Sunshine List' reveals region's highest paid officials

By Julia Le
 CANADIAN CHAMPION STAFF

The president and CEO of Halton Healthcare Services (HHS) is once again Halton's highest-paid public sector official.

John Oliver, who earned $477,520 in salary and taxable benefits in 2012, is among the growing list of public sector employees in Halton and across the province who earn six figures or more annually, according to the so-called Sunshine List released by Ontario's Ministry of Finance recently.

The list discloses public sector salaries from last year of individuals making more than $100,000 a year.

In 2012, 89 HHS employees made the list, up from 80 in 2011 and 77 from 2010, while 391 Halton Region employees were among those who earned more than $100,000, up from 339 employees in 2011.

Oliver has earned relatively the same salary since 2010 because of a pay

Velodrome to launch

Milton's velodrome construction will be launched at Tremaine Road and Louis St. Laurent Avenue this Thursday afternoon. Local dignitaries, government officials and Toronto 2015 Pan Am/Parapan Am Games representatives will be on hand as the project officially breaks ground at 2 p.m. The 154,000-square-foot facility will feature a 250-metre timber track with two 42-degree angle banks for cyclists. Its targeted completion date is September, 2014. It will house cycling events for the Toronto 2015 Pan/Parapan American Games.
