

Chatting with an astronaut

Area air cadets talked to Chris Hadfield, commander of the International Space Station (ISS), as it hurtled through the sky above the southern hemisphere Saturday. The cadets from Milton and neighbouring squadrons watched videos on daily life aboard the space station prior to a telebridge amateur radio link being established with the ISS through a ground station in Argentina. At left, Warrant Officer 2nd class Brittany Childs of Burlington's Mohawk 715 Squadron watches a video presentation while waiting for the radio link-up to begin. At right (top to bottom), 820 Squadron Cpl. Delainey Hewitt, 820 Squadron flight Cpl. Joshua Gomes and 820 Squadron Cpl. Chris Hughes ask questions of Hadfield.
