

Riley's Walk organizers set goal of $50,000

Fundraiser in memory of young Milton boy

The third annual Riley's Walk, an event that saw hundreds of people take part in last year, will take to the streets on Saturday.

The walk will take place at P.L. Robertson Elementary School, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and organizers have set a goal of $50,000 in donations that will benefit The Hospital for Sick Kids brain and genetic cancer research.

Milton resident Angus Ronalds started the walk in memory of his wife Heidi, 35, and six-year-old son Riley, who lost their battles with the same cancer less than nine months apart. Ronalds also has a young daughter, Regan who was left without a mother and brother.

Turning heartbreak into hope, Ronalds established and ran the first walk Sept. 2011.

He used the venue to help raise awareness of genetic cancers and brain tumours and to help raise funds for the hospital.

Heidi Ronalds was diagnosed with cancer in 2009 and surgeons found the tumour in a rare, inoperable location.

She died in May 2010. Riley was diagnosed just a month later, and he died Feb. 1, 2011, shortly after his sixth birthday.

Riley's Walk is a five-kilometre stroll through the streets of Milton followed by food and refreshments, bouncy castles, crafts and more.

It's held at P.L. Robertson because that was Riley's school. The school put up a memorial picture Riley on a plaque which now includes the inscription of students names who have been awarded the Riley Ronalds Educational Leadership Bursary that Angus started just months after Riley's death.

Last year, the school also renamed the gymnasium as the Riley Centre. Organizers of the walk are still looking for silent auction donations and corporate sponsors.
