

Daylight Saving Time ends Saturday; time to fall back

It's time to fall back, Milton. Residents are reminded to turn their clocks back before they go to bed Saturday night, as Daylight Saving Time ends for another year.

The Milton Fire Department urges homeowners to use the time change as an opportunity to check/replace the batteries in their smoke alarms.

Library launches digitization of Champion

Milton Public Library launched the digitization of The Canadian Champion last Thursday. The newspaper archive will allow Miltonians to fully access digitized copies of the Champion dating back to 1862 and will replace the library's microfiche. Here (from left), Deputy Chief Librarian Susan Mickalow, library board member Arnold Huffman, library board Chair Ken Jacobsen, CEO and Chief Librarian Leslie Fitch, Our Digital World board member Brian Bell, Champion editor Karen Miceli, software developer Walter Lewis, Milton Historical Society President and library board member Jan Mowbray and Metroland West Media Group general manager David Harvey officially launch the digitization. Riziero Vertolli / Metroland West Media Group

My name is Marie-Claude Park
I live in Toronto and I live with Relapsing-Remitting MS

When I was diagnosed with Relapsing-Remitting MS in 1997, it was the beginning of a journey into the unknown. The pain I felt as a symptom of the disease was nothing in comparison to the anguish of potentially not being able to take care of my children. Thankfully, I was prescribed a new medication – a pill that alleviated my symptoms and changed my life. Today, my symptoms have gone, I have no pain, no relapses and no fear.
