

Milton Camel Race Night

The Milton Optimist Club recently held the Milton Camel Race Night at Rattlesnake Point Golf Club. The event drew 48 teams and raised roughly $12,000 that will go to support various youth groups, including cadets, Scouts, Food for Thought and the Lighthouse Program for Grieving Children. The Milton Seniors' Activity Centre team won the competition. Above (from left), Doug Wiggins of Laurier Dental, Mayor Gord Krantz and Harrop Gallery's Kathy Novak throw giant dice during the race. Inset, the camels await their turn in the race.

Open house set for environmental club

Miltonians are invited to attend an open house for the New Communities Environmental Club this Saturday at the Milton Sports Centre. Running from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., the open house will offer those interested a chance to learn about the new club of the Natural Connections Program, which is a joint venture between Conservation Halton and Future-Watch EDEP. Club membership is free and open to everyone. Those joining the group can:

- help plan and execute improvements to neighbourhood green spaces and our local environment.
 - learn about and visit Conservation Halton parks, and explore recreation, volunteer and educational opportunities.
 - attend free public lectures and events
 - receive Green Community Animation Training, and enroll in the New Canadian Stewardship Course.
- For more information, visit www.conservationhalton.ca.
