Tanis Rideout will discuss her popular debut novel, Above All Things, when she visits the Milton Public Library Wednesday Nov. 27.

The Toronto-based writer will talk about the research she conducted in penning a historical-fiction account of Englishman George Mallory's 1924 final – and fatal – attempt to climb Mount Everest.

Blending fact and fiction, Rideout's novel centres around both the climber and his wife. Published in 2012, Above All Things was named one of the best books of the year by the Globe and Mail, Amazon.ca and the iBookstore.

Rideout will also hold a question and answer session about her debut novel and sign copies of it between 7 and 8:30 p.m. at the library's main branch at 1010 Main St. E.

Those interested in attending are asked to pre-register by calling (905) 875-2665 or emailing info@mpl.on.ca.

Gavin placed fourth at CNE competition

At the Milton Santa Claus Parade and the Mayor's Gala.

His young musical career got a boost at the Canadian National Exhibition's (CNE) Rising Star competition, where he placed fourth this year in the 13- to 25-year-old category and earned $500 for his efforts.

"I really wanted to win it this year, but competition was stiff – there were hundreds of kids," he said. "The girl who won was phenomenal." As for the future, he said he'd love to land big in the music industry, but he's wise enough to realize that might not happen.

"I'm hoping to study business and marketing at university," said Gavin, who also plays in his school's concert band. "I've always had an interest in the way the economy works."

"Music doesn't always work out so it's good to have something to fall back on."
