Ahoy, matey!

The Brightside Players return to the Milton Centre for the Arts for their second year of hosting a British Pantomime just before the holidays, this time putting on a production of Treasure Island. The show runs Friday, Dec. 6 at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 7 and 8 at 1 and 4 p.m. Tickets cost $16, or $5 for eyeGo to the Arts (student package discount). Here, (from left) Tamara Lopez (Long John Silver), Eman Auaz (Jim Hawkins) and Morgan White (Sally Trelawney) are set to play the main roles. Eric Riehl / Canadian Champion (Follow on Twitter @halton_photog)

This one-man stage play is third in the popular series that has delighted audiences across Canada for over 25 years. In this episode, stockbroker-turned-farmer Walt Wingfield pinpoints the source of his economic woes and faces his most profound crisis to date. Once again, the residents of Larkspur grab a good seat and take bets on what Walt will lose first - his heart or his mind!
