

Celebrating literacy

CBC Kids and Momstown Milton recently celebrated children's literacy at the Milton Centre for the Arts. The event featured a visit from CBC Kids' host Patty Sullivan and some of her friends, as well as a host of kids' games and activities. Clockwise from top left, Giancarlo Cicchetti meets Huckle. Chris McIntosh reads to his daughters, Claire (left) and Charlotte. Momstown Milton owner Sam Kassam-Macfie helps Cole Klein-Geltink with his craft. Brielle Padel-ford tries her hand at the sock toss game. Sullivan reads to children and parents.

Eric Riehl / Canadian Champion
(Follow on Twitter @halton_photog)

WE ARE PAN AM

TORONTO 2015
Pan Am/Parapan Am

"The Pan Am Games will be a once-in-a-lifetime chance for me to train and compete at the highest level at home."

Joanna Brown, triathlon
CIBC Team Next athlete

The world-class sport facilities being built for the TORONTO 2015 Games represent the largest investment in Canadian amateur sport history and will help our athletes compete with the best in the world.

See Joanna's Pan Am story at TORONTO2015.org
and share yours at #WeArePanAm

The facilities built for the TORONTO 2015 Pan Am/Parapan Am Games will serve high-performance athletes and communities alike and leave a social and economic legacy across Canada.

