NEWS

More arrests made: police

“Our clearance rates significantly increased in 2013... What we have right now (crime rates) are fantastic. I’m extremely proud of the uniform, frontline and investigative people that are bringing those to us.”

Some of the report highlights included news that violent crime, such as assault, robbery and murder, dropped 5.6 per cent — 2,095 incidents in 2012 to 1,977 in 2013.

Property crime, such as break-ins, thefts and mischief, fell by 13.3 per cent — from 8,969 occurrences in 2012 to 7,772 last year.

In addition to fewer crimes being reported, more arrests were made for crimes committed last year.

That’s reflected, said Tanner, in a significant boost in the clearance rate, which was at 44 per cent in 2013, up from 37.8 per cent in 2012.

This trend is continuing this year.

“Carrying into 2014, the overall clearance rate for January was 55.6 per cent, up from 48.5 per cent in January 2013,” said Tanner.

Not all the news was good however. Crimes such as bail violations, counterfeit currency and disturbing the peace rose by 4.2 per cent — up to 1,055 from 1,012 in 2013 and 2012, respectively.

Motor vehicle collisions were also up 7.3 per cent (from 8,000 in 2012 to 8,587 in 2013).

Impaired driving was also slightly on the rise — up by 1.2 per cent from 345 incidents in 2012 to 349 last year.

Board member Andrew Tyrrell asked that with distracted driving a growing problem, statistics on it be included as a separate category in the future.

“It really is an epidemic,” agreed Tanner. “I was on Lakeshore Road at Bronte the other night and of the 10 vehicles that passed me five (drivers) were on cell-phones. It is one of the leading causes of accidents.”
