

'Hair' today...

Elementary school students from Milton and Burlington donated their hair recently to the Pantene Beautiful Lengths program at Bishop Reding Secondary School, with Bishop Reding students doing the cutting and styling. CFUW scholarship recipients chosen

The Canadian Federation of University Women (CFUW) Milton and District chapter have awarded six local candidates a total of $7,250 to pursue post-secondary school studies.

These funds come from this year's spring book sale. In keeping with the national objective to offer membership to all women, CFUW Milton has extended their scholarship program to include female secondary school candidates for community college, apprenticeship programs and university, as well as mature women.

This year's candidates are as follows.

- Christina Steinhauser, a Bishop Reding Secondary School graduate, will pursue a Bachelor of Music after earning an Associate of Royal Conservatory Diploma.
- Uneebea Mubashsher, a graduate of Milton District High School, will study Life Sciences at the University of Waterloo.
- Emily Coe, who graduated from Craig Kielburger Secondary School, will attend Sheridan College to study art fundamentals.
- Larissa Peck, a Milton District High School graduate, will pursue a Health Science degree at the University of Western Ontario.
- Victoria Propp, who graduated from Milton District High School, will attend McMaster University and will work toward a Bachelor of Science (genetics program).
- Fiona Mueller-Carrero has been awarded the Mature Women scholarship and will pursue a Bachelor of Social Work at the University of Waterloo.
