Special recognition

Second World War veteran George St Cyr has been honoured with the highest award possible from the government of France. He was presented with his Rank of Knights of the National Order of the Legion of Honour — similar to the Order of Canada and given to veterans for their role in liberating France — during a special ceremony at the Royal Canadian Legion Branch #136 last week. St Cyr's name was put forward for the award back in December. He arrived in France two weeks after D-Day to help with the country's liberation. Above, St. Cyr is joined by daughters Diane Bode (left) and Jenny Jarvis at the presentation. Inset, the local veteran offers a close-up look at his commemorative medal.
