With Milton's councillors still laying some groundwork for the next four years, the Milton Youth Advisory Committee made sure that kids weren't going to be left out of the equation.

Last week, four members of the Milton Youth Advisory Committee (MYAC) attended a council meeting to present the group's annual report from 2014, as well as objectives for the upcoming year. The report highlights the ways in which the youths have become active members of local politics and the Milton community at large.

"The mission is to empower youth to participate and have a voice in the Milton community, thereby fostering a positive image for all young people," said Michael Kassir, member of the MYAC.
