

Volunteers needed to sell daffodil pins

The Canadian Cancer Society (CCS) Halton division says it's in urgent need of volunteers for its Daffodil Pin Campaign.

Daffodil Month, held every April, is a CCS national fundraising campaign.

"By volunteering just a few hours of your time selling daffodil pins at local grocery and retail businesses in support of our Daffodil Month campaign, you will be saving lives and helping people who are living with cancer," stated a CCS press release.

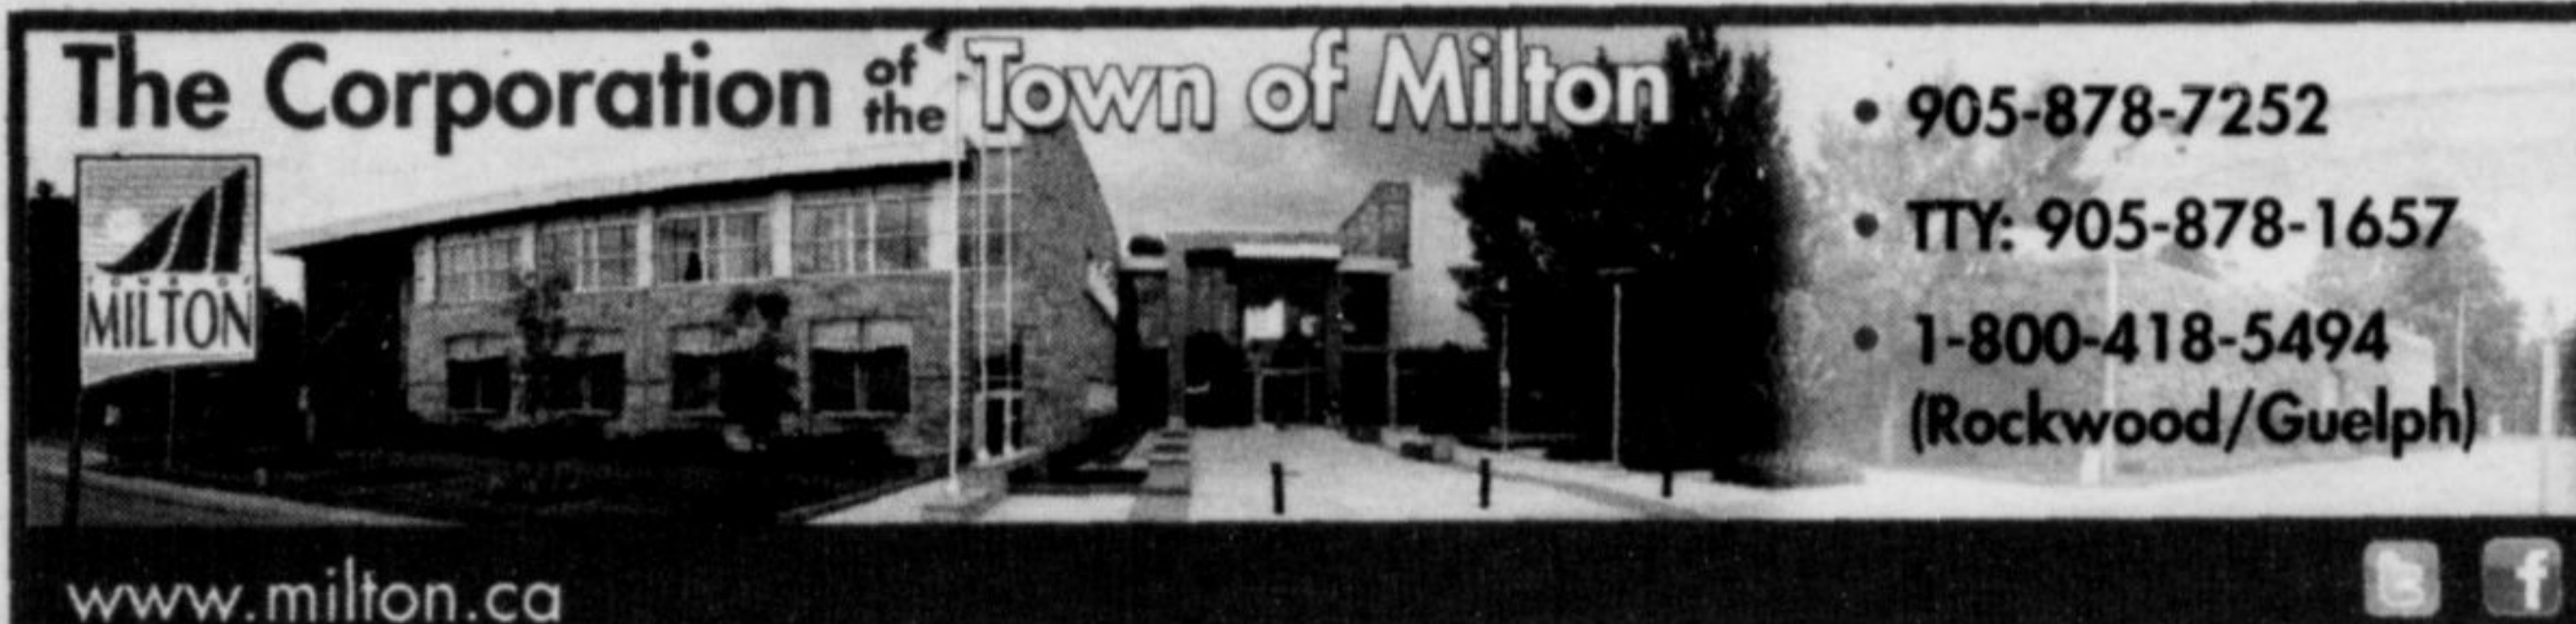

Volunteers are needed between today (Thursday) and April 12 and April 16 and 19.

Shifts are two hours and those interested can sign up for one or more shifts to sell daffodil pins for a donation.

High school students can use their time volunteering for the campaign for their community hours. Adult volunteers are also needed to act as site co-ordinators at various locations.

Anyone interested is asked to contact the CCS Halton community office at (905) 845-5231 or visit www.halton.mycsschedule.ca and sign up online for shifts.
