Crawford Lake to host Music in the Longhouse Saturday

Conservation Halton is inviting residents to come out and enjoy a free evening of music and history at Crawford Lake Conservation Area.

Starring world renowned flutist and storyteller Shendaehwas Nathalie Picard, Music in the Longhouse — set for Saturday — is an attempt to reconnect people with a 15th century Iroquoian past.

It is believed the Crawford Lake site was formerly home to a village of the First Nations' Wendat community over 600 years ago.

As a Wendat person from Wendake, Quebec, Picard hopes the performance will be an enriching throwback to the history of the area and its former inhabitants.

The intimate concert will be held in the newly-constructed Deer Clan Longhouse from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are free and are available on a first come first served basis.
