Appointments available through Region

The Halton Region Health Department is hosting two appointment-based family flu clinics in addition to its drop-in clinics this season.

Families with young children aged six months through five years who are the most vulnerable to the virus are encouraged to register for one of the two appointment-only clinics on November 17 and December 15 at Halton Regional Centre at 1151 Bronte Rd., Oakville.

"The best way to protect young children from getting infected with influenza (flu) is for all family members to receive the flu immunization," Halton Region states in a press release. This is the first year Halton Region has offered appointment-based flu clinics. Families can register for their 15-minute appointments at halton.ca/flu or by dialing 311.

"We know that sometimes it can be challenging for families with young children to attend a drop-in clinic, so this year we're offering two appointment-only flu clinics to meet the needs of Halton's young families," said Halton Region's Medical Officer of Health Dr. Hamidah Meghani. "These new clinics will give young families more opportunities to get the vaccine as pharmacists are unable to immunize children under five."
