

HDSB hosts information session for parents of special needs kids

Parents of children with special needs can find out what resources are available to them when their little one starts kindergarten. The Halton District School Board is inviting parents to attend an information session to meet other parents and ask questions about transitioning their children with special needs into kindergarten. Topics for the information session will include learning about supports and programs offered by the Halton public board; speaking with parents whose children with special needs have recently entered kindergarten; the role of the board's Special Education Advisory Committee (SEAC); meeting special education staff from the board; learning about the Community Care Access Centre (CCAC) and visiting a kindergarten classroom. The information session will begin with a brief presentation followed by a choice of small breakout sessions focusing on specific topics. There will be childcare available at the information session, which runs Monday, April 20 from 7 until 8:30 p.m. at P.L. Robertson Public School, 840 Scott Blvd., in Milton.
