Dancer's fancy footwork worthy of special recognition

Milton's Hailey Cahill, 13, was named the junior dancer most destined to succeed at the recent Dance Canada event in Collingwood. More than 500 young competitors took to the stage at the event to perform before a panel of judges for top honours.

Cahill, who dances with Milton's Dance Elite Studio for the Arts, performed a number of routines, including a solo that stood out to the judges.

"Hailey is a team player when it comes to dancing," said Marnie Palmer-Lang, the local studio's owner and artistic director. "Hailey loves to dance and sets a great example at the studio."

Cahill has been with Dance Elite since she was first introduced to dance as a young girl. She is skilled in a number of disciplines, including ballet, point, jazz, tap, lyrical and acro.

Cahill, said Palmer-Lang, enjoyed a successful season with Dance Elite. Her solo, titled Kiss, was choreographed by the studio's artistic director. It was performed throughout Ontario, as were her group routines.
