INTRODUCTION

This is a tool you can turn on to allow end users to request reproductions from your organization with a simple click of a button.

On the Full image screen, the user can click on “Order Reproduction” (you can change the button label) and an email is auto-generated with the request, the original file name and display URL. This gives you the information you need to find the original item and correspond with the end user about their request.

Display ordering link: Under "Ordering options" choose whether to have the option display or not (Yes/No)

If you decide to turn on the option, you can alter the following labels for on-screen display:

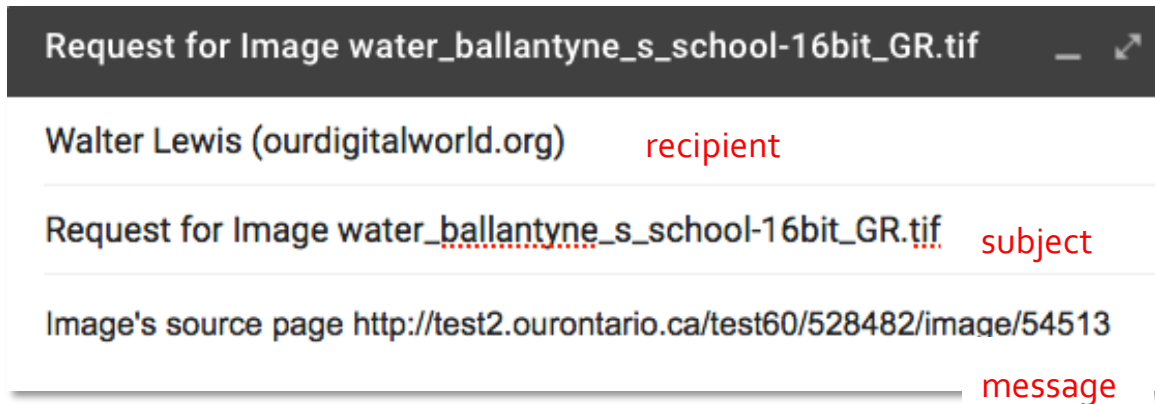

Original file name: Change the wording that precedes the original file name from the database

Button Label: Change the text on the button that triggers the request email from the user's default on-board email application.

EMAIL SETTINGS & LABELS

You can also change the labels in the email subject line and message first line. The image information is automatically generated.

After making any changes, update the full image screen then Reinitialize your site to commit the changes on your public site.

EMAIL RECIPIENT

Make sure that your Agency public email is up to date. This is the recipient email for any reproduction requests.

Adjust the recipient email in Agency Management > Labels & Addresses > Public email
