

Defining CANADA

BY JOHN COOPER

"A quiet, thoughtful coming-of-age novel about a sensitive boy and his exceptional pet."
—Publishers Weekly

BY MARINA COHEN

Teased and bullied at school, 12-year-old Claire finds a mysterious book of spells that may solve her problems.

By the author of Ghost Ride, shortlisted for the Red Maple Award, 2011.

BY ADIRA ROTSTEIN

"Adira Rotstein cleverly uses Treasure Island as a background to creating this new tale about a little girl who must quickly grow up because of the dangers that surround her ancestry."
—CM Magazine

The first book in the Little Jane Silver Adventure series.

BY MICHAEL REIST

As a classroom teacher for more than 30 years and the father of three boys, Michael Reist is ideally positioned to provide practical advice on how to communicate with boys and how to identify their problems.

BY KAREN HOOD-CADDY

"Hood-Caddy's previous titles for adults focused on strong female protagonists against a backdrop of environmental issues, and Howl delivers a similar package, introducing young readers to a broad spectrum of ecology, animal rights, and political activism."
—Quill & Quire

BY MARK OSBALDESTON

With over 150 photographs, maps, and illustrations, the book tracks the origins and fates of some of the city's most interesting plans.

"Unbuilt Toronto 2 is a treasure trove of lost projects that's every bit the rival of its predecessor."
