COMMUNITY CONSENSUS BUILDING

Bruce Craig, Participative Designs;
Jo Ellen Logan, Workplace Solutions.

Libraries can be involved in complex and contentious community issues. Municipal amalgamation can bring together feuding parties. Hot issues such as internet filtering can cause storms of protest from the public. You need effective methods of building community consensus by engaging the impacted groups, transforming skepticism and resistance into constructive dialogue and achieving momentum for change.

Convenor: Elaine Taylor, Ottawa Public Library Board.
