Silver Birch Award Winners 2001

LINDA BAILEY

BILL RICHARDSON

Red Maple Award winner 2001

ERIC WALTERS

The Silver Birch and Red Maple Award reading programs are among the OLA's most appealing and popular programs. Over 60,000 children are estimated to have taken part in 2001. Here are the authors of the books that the children chose as the best.

Linda Bailey won the Silver Birch Non-Fiction Award for Adventures in the Middle Ages. Bill Richardson, the host of the CBC radio program, Richardson's Roundup, was the winner of the 2001 Silver Birch Fiction Award for After Hamelin. Eric Walters, a teacher in the Peel District School Board, has been a nominee and winner of both the Silver Birch Award and now the Red Maple award. He won for his book, Rebound.

See Session #504 for further opportunity to meet these popular authors.
