Speed Networking

11:00 AM - 12:30 PM MTCC 203B

New professionals and students meet and network during 5-minute "dates"! Students should anticipate lots of laughs and the chance to share about:

- What courses should I take after graduation?
- What are the top blogs to follow?
- What book(s) should I be reading?
- What's the first thing I should do to find a position?
- How should I prepare to move into management?
- What is the best tip for balancing career, family and social lives?

as mid-career and later librarians, do for those who are new to the profession? How do we maintain positivity while still being realistic? Just what is the future of libraries?

USING NEARPOD TO ENHANCE INTERACTION IN INFORMATION LITERACY INSTRUCTION

Bill McAskill, George Brown C; Junhui Zhang, George Brown C; Andrea Hall, George Brown C

Traditional Information Literacy (IL) sessions often rely on a combination of PowerPoint, live demonstration, and hands-on exercises. We use the Nearpod app to create interactive sessions that promote group discussion and peer assessment of (IL) skills.
