

WEBINAR: Learn how to Create Library Instruction Videos

That's A Wrap! Looking to create high quality videos at your library? Our video guru Jennifer Peters will take you step-by-step through the process of getting a good shot and how to edit together your footage for a library video of Oscar calibre!

Video is really hot right now. YouTube videos are uploaded at a tremendous rate every day and there are now more videos online than you would ever have time to watch in your entire life! So what is your library waiting for? Get filming! This session will demonstrate how to develop short library instructional videos based on our experiences developing research and citation videos at Seneca Libraries. Believe it or not, really good instructional videos are cheap and easy to create, you just need some pointers to get you started.

Creating Library Instruction Videos: an introduction with Jennifer Peters

When: Tuesday December 3, 2 - 3 p.m.
Where: Webinar
Cost: Member $45.00 | Non-Member: $55.00

Have you registered for the Forest of Reading® yet?

Check out the 2014 Forest of Reading Lists and what books have been nominated for Forest of Reading Awards. You can also see what books are available in alternate formats! Don't let your readers miss out on being part of the largest national reading program of its kind.

REGISTER TODAY!

For more information, check out our website.

The Canadian Library Data - Typical Week Survey is now open