Library Journal's LEAD THE CHANGE! Comes to Vaughan Public Libraries on May 12

The all new 2015 Lead the Change program is designed to optimize the contribution and impact of the individual library staff member, including librarians, support staff, public-facing service representatives, administration and IT/technical services.

David Bendekovic, program developer and lead instructor at the Pennsylvania Library Association Academy for Leadership Studies, and his co-facilitators will act as guides, immersing themselves in the learning experience with participants.

This program will be co-facilitated by Margie Singleton, Chief Executive Officer, Vaughan Public Libraries and Moe Hosseini-Ara, Director of Culture, City of Markham.

Participants at every stage in their career will benefit from learning their strengths and how they can contribute to their library's success. Each attendee will walk away with a Personal Action Plan for success, and also get access to The Commons, our online alumni community where librarians can share resources, make connections, and crowdsource solutions to their challenges.
