Digital Odyssey 2016 - Privacy in Public: Implications for Libraries

June 10, 2016 | Hamilton, ON

Do you struggle to raise awareness about the importance of protecting your privacy? At this year's Digital Odyssey, we'll be tackling this issue and more. In addition to presentations from experts in the field, we're thrilled to announce that Alison Macrina from the Library Freedom Project will be leading a hands on workshop to teach us about privacy tools. Come to Digital Odyssey to learn about the latest privacy issues and take away tips and tricks that you can put to work in your library, whether it's an academic, public, school or special library.

This year we'll be meeting at the beautiful Central Library branch of the Hamilton Public Library. The Central Library is easily accessed by public transit (it's only a short walk from the Hamilton Go Station) and public parking is also available in the vicinity. We hope to see you there!

OCULA EVENTS

Attend the OCULA Spring Dinner!

Thursday, May 19, 2016 | Toronto, ON

Each year the Ontario College and University Library Association (OCULA) hosts a spring conference, as well as a spring dinner. These gatherings offer the opportunity to keep up to date about issues pertaining to academic libraries, to participate in stimulating and timely professional development activities and to network with other academic library staff.

We invite colleagues from all library sectors to join us for this evening. Non-members are also welcome!
