

des associations de bibliothèques (CFLA-FCAB). Your responses will help inform the CFLA-FCAB Intellectual Freedom Committee to develop policy and advocacy work on behalf of the membership and the Canadian public. Results are shared with the Book and Periodical Council [of Canada] and the Office of Intellectual Freedom of the American Library Association. An anonymized version of the 2017 challenges database will be available without charge on the CFLA-FCAB website.

The purpose of the survey is to gather data about the nature and outcomes of challenges to intellectual freedom initiated in publicly funded Canadian libraries (e.g., public, school, post-secondary, and government) between January 1 and December 31, 2017.

Please submit one form per challenge. (If your library experienced multiple challenges, each challenge requires a separate submission.)

The deadline to submit is Mar. 31.

If you have questions about the survey, feel free to contact Donna Bowman.

EVENTS & CONFERENCE

Thank you to those who attended the 2018 OLA Super Conference!

There were nearly 500 speakers, hundreds of exhibitors, and more author visits than we could count. But none of those numbers would matter if you didn't come to the conference. Thank you!

Help us make our next Super Conference a success. Tell us what you liked, loved, hated, or missed at the conference.

You can also give us feedback on individual sessions through the app on the session description pages.

Looking for Session Materials and Conference Photos?

Session material and shareables (PowerPoint presentations, handouts, and resources) will be available on the Super Conference website on each session's page. Speakers can submit their material to the Super Conference email address.

You can also see images of the graphic facilitator's sketches on the Super Conference website.
