

The Knights in the Classroom is part of a registered educational charity and have created a customizable programme for libraries to bring reading to life with onsite, educational experiences. You pick the activities you are most interested in exploring and they will come to your location and conduct the sessions linking them to the books you have in your library.

Activities include fencing, historical martial arts, archery, cartography, ancient sports & games, the catapult and much more! They can link their activities to almost any area of history including medieval times, pirates and more! The experience is customized to the age of the participants and is suitable for the whole family. Their team even includes a bagpiper to help take the experience to the next level.
