it has done here, and for precisely the same reusons. Those who are best acquainted with the fisheries aver that they have fallen off greatly in point of productiveness within the last twenty years, and by the operation of the same causes which have so injured our owncelebrated establishment, embracing all the new of strikes, may be termed that of the "lock-styles of their elegant and elaborately carved and out." There is no fear, however, of the salmon striking as long as he can find a shop to employ him on a river to run into. But there is this curious discrepancy in the two cases, In addition to the sale at his own Stores, the sale of HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE and EFFECTS at other trades, it the master who pays the wages, the private residence of parties declining House- and who is asked to pay more than he thinks he ought to; whereas, in the case of the salmon it is not the master who pays the wages, cilities have been secured, with a view to the effi- but the unfortunate workman of a salmon, who cient carrying out this department of the business, is willing to pay any reasonable wages to his in order to ensure the greatest economy and des- masters provided only they will not lock him. patch in disposing of property, so that parties sell-ing out can have their account sales and proceeds it, leister it, net it, and fish it as hard and as long as you like, and you cannot do it; but age when rapacity and chicanery- abound, to find anyone so blinded by short-sighted greed one per cent on the amount of purchase, and the latter as to defend a system which is so atrociously by the exorbitant charge for commission and adver- unnatural that no one ever dreamt of applying

Certain gentlemen have formed themselves into a club for the course of their very laudabit efforts in this ing £5,000, the commission will be £5; and direction they have of course, incurred the obon amounts from £5,000 upwards only £10, loquy of the partisans of the fixed net interest. exclusive of the cost of advertising; upon In the course of their argument, the Fish and which the regular trade discount of 25 per Game Protection Club pointed to the very obvious course of our own legislation, and said drawn, no charge will be made, except the that we had abolished fixed nets, which, as far as England itself is concerned, is certainly the very liberal patronage bestowed on him during Scotland something had been done, and estuaries and mouths of rivers have been swept clear of them, though vested interests of some N. B .- All orders left at the office will meet with few years duration have been hitherto too strong even for common sense backed by popular opinion. Still, the tendency of all legislation on this subject has been strongly towards the abolition of fixed nets. Much discussion has been raised upon this question in Canada, and the evidence taken in this country, and the legislation which has taken place, have been cited and a bill has been brought into the Canadian Parliament by the commissioner to regulate that in Canada, where the salmon fisheries are the Government, there could not have been much difficulty in abolishing the use of fixed nets. But wonderful to relate, even in Government property some one seems to have acquired a vested interest somehow, and the commissioner, instead of doing away with fixed L Buildings prepared; disputed accounts of nets, actually proposes to licence them, imposing upon them the weekly close time enacted in the Scotch law. We may here take occasion to say that, if the commissioner has taken the Scotch Act as the model of our legislation upon the salmon question which is best worthy of imitation, he might as well take Martin Tupper as the most worthy model amongst our philosophers. The Fish and Game Club do not like the bill; they do not hesitate to say so, thereby encurring the ire of the Montreal Transcript, which might almost be suspected of Fenian proclivities, from the Parliament at its next Session for an Act to strong language it uses. The club, too is said to sneer at the close time for fixed nets, which really is much more respectful treatment than such an utterly ridiculous proposition deserves. A weekly close time for fixed nets, even hoon our own Scotch coast, is sufficiently absurd and inoperative; but when it comes to the adoption of this sapient measure as a species of emulcent to the rigours of fixed nets upon the wilderness that borders the St. Lawrence, where as the Transcript says, the station, markets, &c., are hundreds of miles apart, with no is only peapetrating a very solemn and ponder-ous joke, or whether it be possible that anyone 75-td can be so profoundly ignorant of the whole question as to suppose that such an enactment could be enforced. At all events, the commissioner appears not to have the smallest
