They have greater strength, and will remain longer in Text than any other Piano The construction is simple and natural, all the extraneous lumber in the body of the instrument is despensed with; the sound boards are merely two arched planks of thin wood, like the front and back of a violin; the strings are attached to a strong Iron frame, which is separa ted and entirely independent of the case, therely dispensing with the old harp form of stringing byesubstituting straight bridges, preserving at the same time the Over Strung Bass, of shich Mr. DRIGGS is the Inventor.
