RE THE ONLY INSTRUMENTS A constructed on a truly Scientific Princimain longer in Texe than any other Piano The construction is simple and natural, all the extraneous lumber in the body of the instrument is despensed with; the sound boards are merely two arched planks of thin wood, like the front and back of a violin ; the strings are attached to a strong Iron frame, which is sepanted and entirely independent of the case, thereby dispensing with the old harp form of stringing by substituting straight bridges, preserving at the same time the Over Strung Bass, of which Mr. Dauges is the Inventor. by these inprovements we gain much more vibratory power, at the same time preserving all its purity and richness of tone. From the N. Y. Herald, Sept. 5 .- Upon a careful examination of Drigg's Piano-Forte, we find the results obtained are a very fine singing tone, great purity and brilliance throughout the entire instrument, not often found in Pianos constructed upon the old plan The N. Y. Times, July 12, says :- We have now an instrument without an equal. It can sing with a smooth delicacy, perfectly unattainable on any other instrument; an ordinary player obtains with no exertion, the fullness of a Grand Piano-Forte, and they must speedily supersede the old styles,

GENTLEMEN :- Having thoroughly examined and tested the Piano-Fortes invented and pa tented by Mr. S. B. Darges, I am of the opinion that the tene resulting from his improvements as exhibited in the instruments under examination, in point of richness, depth and brilliancy, equals that of the best Grand Piano-Fortes, and excels them in pure, musical intenstion and actual tone, power thus approximating closer to what I consider perfection in the instament than has yet been achieved by any other sys tem of manufacture.
