

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

On no occasion will the names of Old Advertisements be inserted here.

Ottawa Daily Times.

Published every morning, Sunday excepted.

Ottawa Weekly Times.

Published every Friday morning.

JOB PRINTING.

Smallest Card to a Mammoth Poster.

EXCURSION!

THE QUEEN VICTORIA.

The Ottawa Times.

OTTAWA, JULY 27, 1866.

The Ottawa Times is published daily at eleven o'clock.

A large amount of business was transacted by the House yesterday.

The announcement made by the Attorney-General West last night.

Those who take exception to the fifth clause of the new Volunteer Militia Bill.

al service; that it should take care of the maimed, and provide for the families of the killed in battle.

Without admitting or denying the force of these objections, let us first see the full effect of the policy of closing the door against sudden emergency.

Parliament should have voted a much larger sum for the Militia service of the year.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

And it is every avenue to voluntary contribution towards the defence of the country to be closed but one.

Boy Force.—By a special despatch from Clarence, we learn that the body of a man, probably one of those drowned at Buckingham, on Monday last, was found floating in the river.

The Young Canadian Band was now announced for the rope walking feat, and when he ascended the post in order to get on his narrow path, there could not have been less than 2,000 persons present.

The Theatre.—This evening is the last occasion on which the "Green Bushes," a comedy of the "Green Bushes," will be presented.

Police Court.—Catherine Whelan, charged with being drunk again, and in this condition wandering and lying on the streets, and the complaint proved the charge by witnesses.

Excursion.—The Ottawa and Prescott Excursion, which was held on Monday last, was a very successful one.

Local News.—The man arrested by Sergeant Aylmer, for stealing a silver watch from a person in Hall, was yesterday taken to Aylmer, and was committed for trial at the next Assizes.

Military Movements.—We learn from a very reliable source, that on the removal of the detachment of the P. C. O. Rifles, now stationed here, either a detachment of the Royal Canadian Rifles, or of the 100th Regiment, (yet to arrive), will be sent to this station.

Narrow Escape.—A man named Bait, residing on Wellington street, while crossing the Sappers' Bridge yesterday, not being aware of the trap set for the unwary by those employees of the work, was by the tipping up of a loose plank, thrown to the ground, a distance of over twenty feet, and severely injured.

Another Dangerous Pass.—At the intersection of Dalhousie and Church streets, there is, or was last night and this morning, a chasm left open, apparently for the malicious purpose of causing broken bones to the foot passengers indiscriminately.

Those who take exception to the fifth clause of the new Volunteer Militia Bill, desire permission to municipalities to assist in the equipment and maintenance of the volunteers when on actual service, and to provide for the wounded, or the families of the absentees, in the full force of the arrangements they urge against it.

Excelsior.—At the close of the session, His Excellency the Governor-General, with his suite, and a fashionable party, left Ottawa to take a pleasure trip to the Saguenay, per steamer Queen Victoria.

Two Ladies.—For this old English amusement, two ladies entered upon the platform, erected specially for the purpose. H. Crack (Satchell's prodigy), who was well prepared for the dance, and T. Burns. Crack was declared the most handsome and accordingly carried off the $200 prize.

Wheatbaker Race.—Estrie—G. Forsyth, G. Varin. In this race the competitors are blindfolded, and it generally excites considerable amusement; on this occasion, however, Forsyth made quick work, and was an easy winner.

He was a free trader, had complained against this bill, that it was the introduction of the system was really a free trade, he must be in favor of direct taxation in Lower Canada, say, for instance, a tax on the importation of foreign goods.

After further debate, the members were called in, and the House divided on the question of the bill. The bill was then read a second time.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

Mr. HOLTON moved that the House go into committee on the bill, and that the committee be empowered to amend the bill in any manner they might think proper.

THE BATTLE OF SADOWA. (From the Special Correspondent (Wm. H. Russell) of London, with the Austrian Army.)

On the 22nd and 23rd of July, the Austrians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.

At the Austrian right wing, the Prussians were to all intents and purposes on the flank, although the fury of the cannonade and the incessant rattle of musketry all along the front, from the front of the Prussian position to the rear, attested the severity of the struggle and the obstinate resistance of the Prussians.