In presenting the AUTOMATIC ORGAN, we befully announce the greatest triumph in musical instruments of the age. During the past half century the French and Germans have manufactured reed intruments with double bellows, and two pedals for EXHAUSTED BELLOWS, (which is the only bellows used in our instruments,) made it impossible for them to produce the mellow, rich and musical tone for which our instruments are celebrated. Another objection to this method of blowing was, that both feet being occupied, no opposituality was offered for the management of the swell. Within the past two years, instruments constructed on this European plan of "double blowers," have been manufactured in this country, and to counteract this difficulty (want of a swell) a lever has been preected from the centre of the instrument, to act upon upon the swell, and operated by the knee. The inconvenience and contortion necessary to effect
