

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

On no occasion will the names of Old Advertisements be inserted here.

Ottawa Skating and Curling Club—C. H. Carrigan.

Her Majesty's Theatre—John Townsend.

General Provisions, A.—P. A. Egleson & Son.

Ottawa River Navigation Company.

Simonson Wanted as Teacher.

M. Ansell's Patent Galvanized Barrel Pens.

Fresh Oysters—George W. Crane.

The GALLANDED MARSHAL BROWN.—All who are in the habit of writing much know how difficult it is to have a good pen. After trying those of many of the makers, we have settled on that of Mr. Egleson, which deserves it. He is the only one in the country up to it; vice the head of the government could only come up to it. An old galvanized magnum bonum, which was patented in England some years ago, has ever since been used in the publishing houses there. This pen has for some time occupied a position in the Government offices in Canada, and is not likely to be exchanged for another. It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that Mr. Simonds the agent, is here to solicit orders.

Considering the virulence with which the ATTORNEY GENERAL West has assailed the foregoing remarks from the leading Opposites in Canada East cannot but be taken as a great compliment. Though not intended, it is in itself a most conclusive answer, from an independent source, to the trumpery accusations of the organ of the ex-President of the Council, and following, as it does, on the heels of the successful demonstrations in favor of the Delegates' cause, gratifying to Mr. MACDONALD, as New York city, where press engagements demand his immediate presence. His stay in this city has indeed been short, but in that period he has made a host of friends, and has himself been kindly treated by those who request us to express kindly to him his many kind photons his gratitude for their courtesy extended to him during his stay. In fact no one can come in contact with the Doctor except to meet him as a gentleman, kind, social and affable in his manners, possessing a social nature, warm heart, and in his profession skillful beyond a doubt. He becomes so enamored of his success, and the mind-bending pleasure that he has received so soon as his business engagements will permit, to return to the latter part of the month, when will again take rooms with the most excellent post of the Russell.

But the Herald underestimates the importance of the mission of the Delegates. The qualities for which our contemporary gives Mr. MACDONALD credit and above all "sound common sense," are just those required to bring the negotiations in England to a successful issue. The case in the affairs of the Province must now be determined in Canada, but at the colonial office, and by the Imperial Parliament; and it ought to be of the first importance that the best talents and the largest experience in the Government should be there fully represented; as well as the several sections of the country and classes of our population. These qualities have been the considerations which have led the Cabinet to resolve upon the sending of the leading Ministers both from Upper and Lower Canada, as well as Mr. GALT, so that in the future there may be no cause for complaint on the part of any class or section. Nor can it be said that the fact of the Quebec Resolutions having settled the terms of confederation, in so far as the opinion of this country is concerned, ought to dispense with the necessity of such a formidable delegation as has been named; for the most that can be said on behalf of these resolutions, is that they give an outline of the general principles, and set the limits to some of the details; but all these must pass the sanction of the Imperial Government, and be harmonized with the views of the representatives of the Maritime Provinces, who are not pledged to them to the same extent as the Canadian Delegates. It is clear, therefore, that our representatives in England will have many things to attend to, and that the courage, coolness, and above all the sound, common sense" of the ATTORNEY GENERAL WEST, are just in the position to be exercised to the greatest advantage for the benefit of the country.

And the Herald also, we think, exaggerates the probabilities of danger to the Province from the temporary absence of so many Ministers. It overlooks the fact that even should an extraordinary emergency arise, the absent members of the Cabinet will be within twenty-four hours' call of the Administrators; the most ample preparation have been made in advance, in view of the necessity of the absence of Ministers, which is a thing that has been long foreseen. Sir JOHN MICHEL is already familiar with the administration of affairs, and would even if Ministers were here, have the enterprise of introducing a bill for the welfare of the society. The course will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

JOB PRINTING, FROM THE
Smallest Card to a Mammoth Poster.
Published in the newest style of the Art.

With fast presses, and all the appliances of modern material, competition in this branch is dead.

All orders from the country specially and promptly attended to.

ADVERTISING AGENCY—Messrs. S. M. Patterson & Co., 54, Park Row, New York, and State Street, Boston, General Advertising Agents, are hereby authorized to receive Advertisements for the OTTAWA TIMES.

The Ottawa Times
City and County Official Paper

OTTAWA, NOVEMBER 9, 1866.

For Arrival and Departure of Ships see page 1.

The Hon. Mr. CARTIER left for Montreal by the 1:45 train yesterday. He will leave Montreal for New York in time to rejoin the other members of the delegation who sail by the Cunard steamer on Wednesday.

The Hon. J. A. MACDONALD also left the capital last night. We shall see no more of the Delegates at Ottawa until after their return from England.

The Council of Public Instruction for Lower Canada have, it is reported, directed the Hon. M. CHAUVEAU, Superintendent of Education for Lower Canada, to proceed to Europe in order to examine the systems of public education there. Mr. Chauveau will sail with the Delegates on the 14th, and will probably be absent for four or five months. Dr. Girard will in the meantime take charge of the department.

A brief item in the cable dispatches has an especial interest for C. O. I. R. Stephens and his supporters. It merely says that preparations are quietly in progress in Ireland to meet a possible rising. We do not believe that Stephens will ever redeem his promise of going to Ireland to fight before the New Year. He is quite likely to leave America; he has done all and gathered up that he can upon this continent, and we should not be at all surprised to hear of his taking up the cudgels again. The "rising" will be suppressed with a firm hand. It will not do for England at the present time to give the United States the least shadow of a plea for recognizing "belligerency rights" as attaching to the followers of Stephens, or considering what we have already seen, we may be very sure that the American Government would not be hard to satisfy. Under these circumstances a policy of prompt and severe repression has become a necessity for England, and it need not therefore be expected that the Stephens movement will ever reach the magnitude and importance of the unfortunate escape of young Irishmen, with which the Government dealt very mercifully, and its expense has since shown very wisely.

The Montreal Herald complains that so many of the members of the Cabinet are going on the mission to England, and argues that it is not safe to leave the Administrator of the Government with such a reduced number of Constitutional Advisers.

If, however, Sir John Michel, in the absence of Lord Monk, were to have the assistance of those members of the Cabinet who have a reputation with the public—especially we would say of that member of the Cabinet who enjoys a reputation for ability the evil would be removed. We hope that the services of Mr. John A. Macdonald, and we believe that he has done, and is still doing a great deal of service to the country. There are of course men whom we should prefer—men even as admiring intrators, but he has to a very large extent the confidence of his own friends, which is in itself a source of strength, and we, who do not profess to be his friends politically, are bound to add that he deserves it. He is the only man in the country up to it; vice the head of the government could only come up to it. An old galvanized magnum bonum, which was patented in England some years ago, has ever since been used in the publishing houses there. This pen has for some time occupied a position in the Government offices in Canada, and is not likely to be exchanged for another. It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that Mr. Simonds the agent, is here to solicit orders.

Dr. GALT.—This gentleman, who has been justly termed a skilled chirurgeon, leaves this morning for New York city, where press engagements demand his immediate presence. His stay in this city has indeed been short, but in that period he has made a host of friends, and has himself been kindly treated by those who request us to express kindly to him his many kind photons his gratitude for their courtesy extended to him during his stay. In fact no one can come in contact with the Doctor except to meet him as a gentleman, kind, social and affable in his manners, possessing a social nature, warm heart, and in his profession skillful beyond a doubt. He becomes so enamored of his success, and the mind-bending pleasure that he has received so soon as his business engagements will permit, to return to the latter part of the month, when will again take rooms with the most excellent post of the Russell.

Police Officer—Gathering Whelan, charged with being drunk and disorderly, fined $1 and costs or three weeks in jail—prosecutor Hogg for being quarreled in the tavern of Pedro Lehman, and offering to fight him when desired to leave. Lehman struck Whelan in self-defense. The striking was set off against the challenge, and the case disposed without costs. The case of Whelan against Williams for assault was again called up, when it was put in and defendant fined $1 and costs, or in default one week in jail—Am. Brew was charged with stealing a pair of boots from Lawrence Brothers. Prisoner under pretence of piloting boat carried off a pair under her shawl, was followed, arrested, and sent to jail. She elected to stand trial summarily and was sentenced to two weeks jail. She earnestly entreated to be kept no more than one week from her seven days.

I. P. B.S.—On reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the members of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society of Ottawa intend celebrating their first anniversary on Tuesday next, the 13th inst., by attending divine service in the morning, and dining together at Graham's Albion Hotel, Nicholas street, at seven o'clock in the evening. Should the day prove fine, we fully expect a large turnout in the procession to church in the morning, but no matter what the state of the weather, we are certain that the dinner will prove a grand success, as the committee are sparing neither pains nor expense to make it pass with the greatest eclat.

We are informed that the representative of the ATTORNEY GENERAL WEST, are just in the position to be exercised to the greatest advantage for the benefit of the country.

And the Herald also, we think, exaggerates the probabilities of danger to the Province from the temporary absence of so many Ministers. It overlooks the fact that even should an extraordinary emergency arise, the absent members of the Cabinet will be within twenty-four hours' call of the Administrators; the most ample preparation have been made in advance, in view of the necessity of the absence of Ministers, which is a thing that has been long foreseen. Sir JOHN MICHEL is already familiar with the administration of affairs, and would even if Ministers were here, have the enterprise of introducing a bill for the welfare of the society. The course will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against him. It was held that he had violated a secret patent. He did so, and estimated them at £2,700. Government referred the claim to his solicitor, who advised it to offer £1,000. Mr. Snider's strong suit is that he has no means of subsistence, having neglected everything for this one project. He is in bad health. The Government will therefore, most likely open with a lecture from the Revd. Dr. LEVINE, of Montreal, whose wide spread popularity as an orator will no doubt fill the hall in Ottawa.

The London Times has an article from which we take the following:—After many years of labor Mr. Snider is the inventor and completer of the plan for converting the English rifle into a breech-loader, and thus giving it a decided advantage over the American rifle. The best weapon yet known for the purpose. He presented the invention to government seven years ago and the first act in this curious little drama was characteristically closed by an action brought by government against